

Campus Mirror

PUBLISHED DURING THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SPELMAN COLLEGE, ATLANTA, GEORGIA

VOL. XXI

OCTOBER, 1944

NO. 1

THE CAMPUS MIRROR

The Student's Own Publication

"SERVICE IN UNITY"

THE CAMPUS MIRROR STAFF

Editor-in-Chief	Lois Blayton
Associate Editors	Ella Lett
	Charlie McNeil
News Editor	Mary English
Associate News Editors	Narvis Smith
	Eleanor Bryson
Special Feature Editors	Ida Kilpatrick
	Myrene Grey
Humor and Sports Editor	Anita Lewis
Social Editor	Madeline Patterson
Art Editors	Mary Parks
	Ethel Boykin

BUSINESS STAFF

Secretaries	Charlotte Arnold
	Fannie Dukes
	Eursala Buford
	Geraldine Phillips
Treasurer	Amanda Keith
Exchange Editor	Charlotte Gunn
Circulation Editor	Harriet Myers
Advertising Managers	Clara Yates
	Charlotte Cochran
Faculty Advisor	Claudia White Harreld

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

75 cents a year, 10 cents a copy, 40 cents a semester—Postage 2 cents a copy

VOL. XXI    OCTOBER, 1944    No. 1

Editorial

The CAMPUS MIRROR staff wishes to extend greetings to all new members on the campus as well as to the old ones.

It is our sincere wish that this year will prove to be one of the best in the history of Spelman, scholastically, culturally, and socially, with more school spirit than ever exhibited among the students.

We realize that this year may be a very decisive one in the course of world events. Therefore, it is for us, the students, to realize the need of the education which we are now receiving, and to put as much effort and energy as possible into developing ourselves in every respect, so that we may take our place in the world of tomorrow unafraid to face the tasks that we shall undoubtedly meet.

We can make every year, every month, or every day a new beginning.

Let us see how much we grow this year, by keeping a tab on the little things we do, by the cooperation we lend, and by the way we enter into all affairs, whether they be of a social or a religious nature.

My colleagues, the CAMPUS MIRROR is the voice of the students of Spelman College. It is not the publication of a chosen few, but that of every individual student that walks the daily paths of our campus.

Come now — don't be bashful, give out with some of that dormant talent you possess. Share your ideas, ideals, pet sayings, experiences, and travels with your fellow students. The paper, and your own paper at that, is one of the best

Freshman Week

BETTYE CHARLENE WASHINGTON, '48

Spelman College opened wide her gates to two hundred green freshmen, the class of '48, on Wednesday, September 13, 1944. Drawn from the act of getting acquainted to Howe Hall by the traditional bell, we listened attentively as the Dean of Freshmen, Mrs. Margaret Curry, gave us a cheery welcome from Spelman and endeavored to rid us of any lingering feelings of homesickness.

We were addressed by our president, Miss Florence Read. A slip of the tongue in her speech, when mentioning our year of graduation, caused one of our members to create this poem for the class to remember her by:

THE CLASS OF '48 OR '49

We are supposed to leave here in '48,
But Miss Read tried to make it a later date;

She said we'd depart in forty-nine,
But we're hoping we'll leave before that time,

For five years in college would surely be tough.

We love dear old Spelman,
From each building's ceiling down to its floor,

But we just want to stay
Four years and no more.
But when we leave, dear Spelman,
Your memories will stay
With us forever
Day after day.

—Vivian L. Reynolds

Later in the week talks were given us by Mrs. Jane Hope Lyons, Dean of Women, and other members of the faculty.

We found much pleasure in exploring the nooks and corners of Spelman's beautiful campus. Also we discovered that there was much talent among the girls in singing, dancing and acting during the party given for us by the Y. W. C. A.

On the rare occasions when we left the campus, we visited the neighboring colleges and Friendship Baptist Church, where Spelman saw its birth. As is typical of Spelman and Morehouse, we freshmen were guests at a get-acquainted party. We were entertained by a young Billy Eckstein and several Lena Horns.

Freshman Week ended for us with this thought: We are facing our college careers with high ideals and with best intentions of being the finest class at Spelman.

mediums that can be used to encourage and develop a stronger bond of relationship among us as citizens of the Spelman College community. Contribute your bit to the MIRROR today.

To Students of Spelman College:

What a time this is to be alive! It is a challenge to the best in us to "rise up" and "have done with lesser things." The trivialities of our lives have been compared to taxes on our vitality, taking away a little strength here, a small amount of energy there, a slice of time here, a bundle of attention there, until we have nothing left but little pieces of ourselves to devote to durable satisfactions, to the things that abide. Character, honor, courage, unselfishness — these we must build up, and that task needs all our powers. It comes easier, and we are happier, if we start straight when we are young. May this year together on Spelman campus be one of marching forward, fearless and free.

FLORENCE M. READ.

Registration Figures Show Increase in Atlanta U.

System Enrollment Figure Totals 1,281

All of the divisions of the Atlanta University System show high registration figures, according to statements released by the various registrars.

At Atlanta University, which this time last year had 78 graduate and professional students enrolled, there are this year 115, an increase of approximately 50 per cent. Of this number, 37 are in the Arts and Sciences, 51 in the Graduate School of Education, and 27 in the School of Library Service.

According to registration figures in the Atlanta University School of Social Work, 116 are enrolled as compared with a total of 93 in 1943-44.

Spelman College has a total of 448 young women enrolled. Of this number there are 62 seniors, 72 juniors, 126 sophomores, and 185 freshmen. Three hundred and twenty-eight, or 73 per cent, are boarding students who occupy to capacity the seven dormitories on the campus.

Morehouse College, hard hit since the enactment of Selective Service, has had a definite jump in its enrollment figures over last year. Three hundred and forty young men are enrolled as compared with last year's figure of 244. There are 191 freshmen, 89 sophomores, 38 juniors, and 19 seniors. Two are unclassified at this college.

The Atlanta University Laboratory School has registered 152 pupils in grades 1-6, as compared with 136 in 1943-44; and in the Nursery Kindergarten there are 110 children of pre-school age, ranging from 18 months to six years.

Catherine Acklin

Catherine Acklin President of Spelman Students Association

Spelman College is happy to receive within its walls about four hundred enthusiastic, determined young women. Of the total number about 40% are freshmen. To them we wish to extend our welcome and to express how very happy we are to have them become a part of our college community. We believe that they realize the very definite part that they are to play in the new world order and, because of that realization, they have come with a desire and will to take advantage of all the numerous opportunities that will be theirs, which will prepare them to do their job effectively.

We are delighted to welcome back the former students. We hope that they, too, have come with even more enthusiasm than ever, more courage and more determination to explore the realms of the college life that still remain undiscovered by them. May they with their one, two, or three years of experience and knowledge be most helpful members of the college family.

We are citizens of a college that is not concerned primarily with preparing students for jobs, though, in fact, in the process of education they are so prepared. It is by no accident that some of the most responsible positions in society are held by Spelman women. Your college, however, is interested primarily in preparing its students to grapple with the persistent problems of life with balance and maturity; to be on guard against snap judgments, prejudice and wishful thinking; as Dr. Dent expressed it in his speech to us in chapel, "to make intelligent use of the knowledge gained here."

(Continued on Page 6)

A Letter to the Freshman Class

Spelman College
Atlanta, Georgia
October, 1944

My dear Freshmen:

I have been observing you for the past weeks and my heart goes out to you. Yes, I know that for some college is not what you expected it to be; for others, just another routine. To you who have made the adjustment, my hat is off. Make the most of every opportunity and remember no one should expect to receive when he does not give.

When you begin to feel sad and blue wishing for mom and dad, for consolation and encouragement, remember you are developing into maturity. You have set your ship afloat on the high seas of intellect. On these high seas one should not expect smooth sailing all the time.

Sometimes your task will seem very hard. If at first success is not realized, surrender not to despair, but fan the ember of ambition to a brighter flame and melt all discouragements. There may be an interruption of motivation or just one of those things without explanation or justification. If so, resolve that this will not disrupt the voyage. Develop the ability to meet every situation.

On the other hand, there will sometimes be easy sailing and happiness aboard. Do not for once become so overwhelmed that you forget the authoritative orders of your captain and pilot. It may be that sometimes you feel nobody will see. "I'll do this just once." During your moments of happiness, do not forget your aim or goal by being too carefree. Remember every moment counts, and mom and dad or others who are interested in you expect the best from you.

Aboard, some of your shipmates will be serious-minded, others nonchalant. Being aware of this fact, choose among them for associates. Each will give something to inspire and uplift the other. What you send into the lives of others comes back into your very own. "So give to the world the best that you have and the best will come back to you."

When you go to chapel for that morning and evening prayer, remember where you are and what your purpose is for being there. Your thoughts should be reverent, thus permitting no frivolity.

Another great privilege that you have and should use is the library. You know it is one of the best, and is something of which you should be proud. It contains a wealth of knowledge. Use it more often.

This letter is not written to make a "goody-goody" out of you, for college is a normal sort of life that does not exact nor demand the unusual.

Yours for success,
MARGARET E. HUGGINS, '45.

What the Campus Is Reading

GOOD NIGHT, SWEET PRINCE

GENE FOWLER

In his biography of the noted actor Gene Fowler describes the life of John Barrymore as neither comedy nor tragedy but grand opera.

Mr. Fowler knew that his subject was a great man, though not always a sensible one, and he portrays him as the "hero of a moving and engrossing human history." There is a great deal of humor in Good Night, Sweet Prince, for Barrymore was a wit and consorted with the outstanding humorists of his time.

John Barrymore's life covers the period from the days of those great figures, John Drew and Maurice Barrymore, to the golden era of Hollywood. The moments of anticipation and excitement, of ingenious display of artistry, of crowning achievement and acclaim, of humiliation and self torture are vividly portrayed by such a writer as Mr. Fowler.

As friend and admirer of the "Great Profile," Mr. Fowler realizes the great talent of the actor and respects Barrymore too much to apologize for him or attempt to make him appear respectable.

In addition to his own knowledge of his friend, Mr. Fowler has read the actor's journal and has the privilege of publishing for the first time long passages from this intimate record of the thoughts and emotions of his subject.

The Sunday School

MODESTINE MARTIN, '48

We are off!! Once more the Sunday School has begun what promises to be a successful year. Two innovations may be noted this year. One is that the classes have names. In our next report we shall mention them, for in many of them there is much originality and depth of meaning. The other new feature is the formation of a Sunday School Council composed of the officers of the Sunday School and the president of each class. The purpose of the body is to plan the worship service for each Sunday, for activities inside and outside the college community, and to serve as a medium through which suggestions for the betterment of the organization can be channeled.

The officers for this year are: Faculty Superintendent, Miss Lynette Saine; Student Superintendent, Rebecca Guyton; Asst. Student Superintendent, Maxine Baker; Secretary, Modestine Martin; Treasurer, Charlotte Gunn.

The officers are very happy over the interest, enthusiasm, and cooperation of the student body and faculty members who are serving as teachers for the classes.

Where Are the Seniors?

ANNA MARY TAYLOR, '46

Quite naturally, students returning to Spelman in the fall always inquire concerning the course that each member of last year's senior class has taken since graduation. We all became so familiar with them and noted with such interest from day to day their every move and characteristic that we developed our own opinion as to what they are best fitted to make of themselves.

The class of 1944 has made a fine beginning, as can be seen from the following facts concerning their activities:

TEACHING

Mariella Ama, Hampton Institute.
 Roberta Arnold, Richmond, Ga.
 Ella Billups, Spelman Nursery School.
 Eleanor Blackshear, Albany, Ga.
 Julia Brown, Columbia, S. C.
 Nina Charlton
 Dorothy Colbert
 J. Louise Coley, Spelman Nursery School.
 Gwendolyn Cooper, Assistant in Biology, Spelman.
 Gwendolyn Dowdell, Dunbar High, Bessemer, Ala.
 Del Eagen, Assistant in Biology, Spelman.
 Faustina Hall, Howard Junior High, Atlanta.
 Gwendolyn Harrison, Washington High, Atlanta.
 Geneva Higgins, Alabama State College, Montgomery.
 Dorothy Hood, Assistant in Chemistry Laboratory, Spelman.
 Cleo Ingram, LaGrange.
 Marian Hickerson, Doddsville, Miss.
 Savannah Ivory, Atlanta.
 Opal Jones, Glenwood, Ga.
 Marie Laurey, Florida.
 Rosa Lee, Atlanta.
 Lula Pearl Lundy, Macon, Ga.
 Edith Reid
 Marguerite Smith, LaGrange.
 Lavada Stokes
 Laura Watson, Greenville, S. C.
 Mary Woods, Washington High, Atlanta.

IN GOVERNMENT EMPLOY

Della Bannister, Washington.
 Helen Bridges, New Jersey.
 Claudia Davis, Washington.
 Marian Edwards, Washington.
 Mattie Gibson, Long Island, N. Y.
 Louise Jones, Washington.
 Ruth King, Washington.
 Edna Lemon, Washington.
 Annie R. Nelson, Washington
 Emma Lou Salter, Chicago, Ill.
 Willie Sherwood, Washington.
 Virginia Tillman, Washington.
 Ella Tyree, Chicago, Ill.
 Eloise Jackson, Washington.

STUDYING

Annie R. Cameron, A. U. School of Social Work.

The Summer Theatre

The Atlanta University Summer Theatre began its operation June 13, 1944, and functioned for the first session of the summer term. The theatre was under the direction of Mr. Thomas D. Pawley, professor of the Speech and English Department of Lincoln University, and Miss W. Frances Perkins of Spelman College.

The presentations for the summer were Granite, by Clemence Dane. Participants were Blanche Sellers, Vernon Smith, Mrs. Marie Cochran, William Y. Bell, Thomas Pawley and Ulysses Gray.

The second offering was a play in three acts, Cry Havoc, by Allan R. Kenward. Ida Kilpatrick, W. Frances Perkins, Rebecca Guyton, Opal Jones, Virginia Tillman, Barbara Mosley, Mariella Ama, Eleanor Blackshear, Wynona Moore, Gwendolyn Davis, and Dorothy Shands made up the cast.

Claudia, by Rose Franken, closed the season, with Henry Moss, Joycelyn Reed, Ida Kilpatrick, Wynona Moore, and Percy Milligan taking the parts.

These performances were all well received. The players on our campuses are looking forward with interest to entertaining the winter students.

SUPPORT

THE UNITED NEGRO COLLEGE FUND DRIVE

Del Eagan, Atlanta University.
 Mabel Emanuel, A. U. School of Social Work.
 Lelabelle Freeman, Meharry Medical School.
 Margaret Gordon, A. U. School of Social Work.
 Bobbie Latimer, A. U. School of Social Work.
 Charlotte Linder, A. U. School of Social Work.
 Mary Louise Smith, Homer G. Phillips Hospital, St. Louis.
 Carolyn Taylor, A. U. School of Social Work.

OTHERWISE EMPLOYED

Estella Ashmore, Spelman Staff.
 Thelma Jones, Assistant Dietician, Atlanta University.

MARRIED

Antoinette Brown
 Hazel Cochrane
 Inez Collier
 Gwendolyn Cooper
 Cleo Ingram
 Barbara Mosley
 Betsy Moss
 Ira Lee Wallace

E. Stanley Jones Addresses First University Convocation

MARY ENGLISH, '45

On Thursday, September 28, the first University Convocation of the year was held in Sisters Chapel, when Dr. E. Stanley Jones, eminent religious leader, addressed the assembly.

The theme of the address was Democracy, which, he said, is founded upon the idea of equality — equality of opportunity rather than equality of endowment. Dr. Jones expressed his faith in the possibility of a solution to the race problem and cited Russia as an example of a state where all races are accorded the same opportunities and privileges. He outlined five reasons why a solution of the question is inevitable. The first of these reasons was that race prejudice is not inherent but is socially imposed. If race prejudice can be taught then surely race appreciation can also be taught.

The second reason was that the modern universe condones "inequality of opportunity," which condition brings about shock and friction between opposing groups. As long as inequality of opportunity exists, the shocks continue until finally they destroy the incidents and causes that gave them being.

The teachings of the Christian religion that all men are brothers was the third reason why the race problem cannot continue. Paul and Barnabas were ordained by a Negro priest and later preached to and converted their white brothers. Paul has said, "In Jesus Christ there is neither Greek nor Jew." The money changers in the temple in Jerusalem were denounced as much for their prejudice as for their unscrupulous activities.

Fourth, he developed the point that science acknowledges no racial differences, no biological differences between man and man. There is no permanently superior or inferior race, said Dr. Jones; only superior stimuli count.

The fifth and last point was the theme of the address: that Democracy is founded upon the idea of equality and upon the full meaning of the word "all."

Dr. Jones further traced the activities and growth of our democracy by enumerating controversial crises through which the country has passed and is passing. These were:

- I. Territorial acquisition
- II. Woman suffrage
- III. Child labor
- IV. Labor and capital disputes
- V. The question of color
- VI. Immigration

(Continued on Page 6)

WAC
Lieutenants
Salute
President
Read

Spelman Women in the War

Graduates of Spelman have just what it takes to win the war both at home and abroad. Let us hope that someday our Alma Mater will be just as proud of the job we are doing in the post-war world as it is of that of some of its present graduates. Spelman alumnae are members of the Army Nurses Corps, of the W. A. C., of the Red Cross, and of other government agencies.

Lt. Maria August, H. S. '21, Nurse Training '24, heads the list. She joined the Army Nurses Corps in 1941 and has since seen service in the African campaign of last year, was wounded and returned to the States. During the last school year she visited our campus and spoke to several student groups.

In the first class of officer candidates at Fort Des Moines in the WAAC were Miss Sarah Murphy, '37 and Miss Dovey Johnson, '38, now Captains Murphy and Johnson. Both were graduated and Capt. Johnson was stationed for a while in Atlanta as a recruiting officer. While here she visited our campus several times and addressed the student body, stimulating much enthusiasm and interest among the students concerning that arm of the service. Juanita Davis and Helen Starr, '42; and Thelma Brown, '29; are also members. Lieut. Brown, when last heard from, was director of a WAC orchestra in Fort Des Moines, the only one of its kind in the service. Our former physical education teacher, Edna B. Callahan, is also in the service there.

If one were in a position that enabled her to watch the daily stream of defense and government workers vitally concerned with the war effort, she would see among them Hortense Bolen, Ruth Counts, Florence Irving, Elizabeth McEwen, and Gloria Starks, '43; Helen McKnight Buntin, '39; Lenora E. Nance, Sylvia Bryant Sims, and Helen Todd, '42, to mention only a few, filing by on the way to work in several cities, army camps, or defense factories in our country.

Now working as morale builders—in a very large sense—in several army camps we find Spelmanites as junior and senior hostesses at the local Service Club or U. S. O. Among these are Opal Dixon, '42, Alma B. Smith, '34, and A. Ruth Gadson, H. S., '22.

Dorothy Nelle Hamilton, '38, former librarian at the Spelman reading room, and Helen Price Sawyer, '35, are now librarians at army camps. Magnolia Latimer, H. S., '25, Fannie Louise Allen, '35, Mary Elizabeth Adams, '38, Ida B. Wood, '39, and Myrtle Bowers, '42, are working with the Red Cross overseas. Glenna Stuart Hayes, '40, is an instructor at the School of Nursing, Meharry Medical College, and directly affiliated with the United States Nurse Corps Training Program. Last spring, she visited our campus and spoke to us in chapel.

On the home front, educating future builders of America, are scores of Spelman graduates. To show how widespread the war effort is in our country, I might point to Mrs. Selena Sloan Butler, a member of Spelman's second class, who uses her spare time ministering to soldiers. She is a Red Cross "Gray Lady."

We who are still in the classrooms are preparing ourselves to serve in the rebuilding of the world and to functionably in the interest of mankind when the war is over.

Platter Chatter

MADELINE PATTERSON

And here we are!—off to a brand new start with all the pleasant events of the summer vacation behind us. I think that I hear some remarks about that word vacation. Well, let's see who's making all the noise and why the dissatisfaction. Oh! I see now! That was "Grumpy" who relates that we had better put that word in quotation marks for her benefit. It seems that she has a distasteful tale of housework to tell. Now, "Grumpy-ette," just look at the bright smiles of all of our Spelman Summer Defense Workers. Do you see any sign of disgruntlement on their faces? I bet their work was ten times harder than yours. Most of us get so out of practice in the art of washing dishes during the school year that it's more than fun to be in the kitchen for about three months.

Now, you just sit there a minute and let me tell you a few things about our Spelman girls and what they did during the summer.

Vivian White not only worked in a defense factory but took a course previous to her working period in order to do a job that required skill. Now, Dora Kennedy doesn't have quite as laborious a tale to tell, but she did work. She was hostess in a doctor's office in her home town. Edith Johnson did some white-collar work in the United States Employment Bureau. Gussie Turner returned to the O. D. B. and resumed her position behind the desk. And will you kindly listen to this: Doris Daniels jerked sodas in her uncle's drug store. Now you might think

(Continued on Page 6)

At The Sign Of The Blue

Many new faces were seen at the initial meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening, October 1, 1944. Doris Daniels, chairman of the Membership Committee, presided. In order to stimulate interest in the various working groups and promote a larger membership, the chairmen of the different committees gave short talks on the duties pertaining to them. These committees are: Public Affairs, of which Madeline Patterson is chairman; Music, Madeline Holder, chairman; Faculty-Student Relationship, Rebecca Guyton; Membership, Doris Daniels; Worship, Katherine Goodman; Intercollegiate, Helen Barnett; Publicity, Lucia Kelley; and Social, Evelyn Spann. The Service Committee is without a chairman, one usually being chosen from the freshman class within the first nine weeks of the term.

The program of prayer and song was carried out jointly by Madeline Holder and Katherine Goodman. It was enhanced by Pattie Jean Moore's rendition of "Ave Maria."

Miss Read and Miss Saine gave us their best wishes for a successful year. Miss Read also discussed the national scope of the Y. W. C. A.'s work which Madeline Patterson of the Public Affairs Committee had mentioned.

On the whole, this "Y" year promises to be a good one. With the large enrollment of the freshman and sophomore classes, we are anticipating a record-breaking membership in the Y. W. C. A.

The best day: Today.
The greatest asset: Health.
The best investment: Service to others.
The best religion: Reverence, gentleness, trust, inward awareness, and cheerfulness.

SPELMAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

(Continued from Page 3)

As we go through this year, may we look steadily into the future, not to a world that will give us all that is best for our asking, but to a challenging arena where every step that we advance can be won only by hard toil and boundless sacrifice, accurate knowledge and supreme wisdom.

CATHERINE L. ACKLIN.

PLATTER CHATTER

(Continued from Page 5)

that is the most wonderful job there is to have, but you just let Doris tell you a few things about it. Yes, it's nice when you're eating or squirting seltzer water into a glass, but when you get a customer that needs the use of some of that psychology that Dr. Eagleson taught you — well, it might be a different matter. Doris' sister, Rosalyn, remained home and worked in a "Five and Ten" establishment.

Oh, "Grumpy-ette," these are just a few of the Spelman girls that did their part and a little more this summer. Do you feel a bit of chagrin creeping over you yet???? Well you just sit and think awhile. It will come, I'm sure.

This is cute! After having visited MacVicar and the doctor on the morning appointed for physical examinations, four Morehouse freshmen paraded out to view the views. Before going very far one of them spied two very enticing looking swings on the front porch of a building. Only the suggestion needed to be made. They were all off in a second to place rightful claim on the required amount of space in a swing. After a bit of getting settled, they began to swing peacefully back and forth, back and forth, THEN out walked an elderly lady. "Good-morning" "Good morning." They continued — back and forth, back and forth. "Young men, do you know that this is a girl's dormitory?" I assure you they unsettled with much more speed and ease than they had settled!

Cheerio until next time!

E. STANLEY JONES

(Continued from Page 4)

VII. A permanent world peace after this war

VIII. The question of the contributions each race can make to the other

In closing, Dr. Jones expressed the hope that the Negro would not become embittered but would look to Christ who gives the power that is needed to transcend all difficulties. He quoted so appropriately Harriet Beecher Stowe's words: "Whatever ought to be, will be, God being God."

BUY WAR BONDS and STAMPS

Smile A While

The sailor was relating his hair-raising experiences aboard a torpedoed ship. The dear little lady was listening wide-eyed. "And there I sees a torpedo, lady, headin' straight for us." "Oh, dear," she gasped. "I do hope it was one of ours!"

Let us endeavor so to live that when we die, even the undertaker will be sorry.

Student: Teacher, I don't think that I deserve an "F."

Teacher: Well, I don't think that you do, either, but that's as low as we're allowed to give."

Melody in 4-F

Palpitating here I stand
Letter in my sweaty hand;
Envelope that seals my fate,
Local Draft Board six three eight.
"Dear flat and underweight,
Greetings from board six three eight.
We are sorry to report
That you will be our last resort."

A sailor 'phoned a San Francisco hotel one night while on a week-end liberty.

"Where can I get a room for tonight?" he asked.

"Where are you 'phoning from?"

"A phone booth."

"Pleasant dreams."

Two cats were watching a tennis match. Said one to the other with a tear in his eye, "My mother's in that racket."

An American soldier said to a captured German prisoner: "I hear that in Germany people eat horse meat."

"Ach!" said the prisoner. "That was in the good old days."

One of the local G. I.'s, just back from leave, says that he was served this meal in a fancy hotel:

Odor of Chicken Soup
Memory of Pineapple Salad
Shadow of Beef Sandwich
Lemon Mirage Pie.

Traffic Cop: "Use your noodle, lady! Use your noodle!"

Lady: "My goodness! Where is it? I've pushed and pulled everything in the car!"